Albany Police Have Quiet Time Over Weekend

Police beat reporters around the bay kept getting the same news from Albany Police Station over the Labor Day holiday while hundreds were dying violently in other cities and states: "Everything quiet, nothing doing."
No traffic fatalities. No drownings. The only fire occurred when cargo in an auto parked on Solano at Talbot caught fire early Sunday afternoon and was quickly put out by Albany Fire Department. The sole prowler was reported by Miss Margo Stanley at 1048 Kains Ave. at 12:58 a.m. Sunday when her mother said she saw a hand move the blinds in a bathroom window and a figure run down the drive toward the street. Police searched the area without locating the prowler.
On Monday morning Julio B. Breese who was visiting his brother at 1249 Dartmouth St., reported the theft of four hub caps valued at $16. The theft occurred between 9 p.m. Sunday and 10 a.m. Monday.

This Is Albany

For those interested people who have been waiting for the opportunity to learn Braille, the Albany Adult Center announces that new enrollments will be accepted in the Braille class this fall. The course, open to the enrollment of sighted people living in or out of Albany, will again be taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, assisted by Mrs. Betty Woodward, Tuesday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30, at the Albany High School building, 630 Key Route Blvd., starting Sept. 11.
There is no fee for this class, which is co-sponsored by the Albany-Berkeley Council of PTA and the Albany Adult Education Center for the fourth consecutive year. The Albany Board of Education participates in this community service to sightless and partially-sighted children and youth by eliminating the usual registration fee for the sighted people participating in this very worthwhile program.

Joe Dagna, owner of Dagna's Market at 1382 Solano Ave., reports that a moving crew already has started blocking up the two residences facing on Ramona Avenue at the rear of his market premises.

Albany Share in United Crusade Higher Than '55

Albany's share in the United Crusade's 1956 goal will be higher than last year, $12,950, according to Wilfred J. Harpham who heads the Crusade in Albany.
Alameda County's $2,027,564 goal is 20 per cent higher this year. The increase, explains Harpham, is to cover the big jump in population, particularly with more school age children, and the additional assistance required from Crusade agencies.
Albany's quota is divided among the following divisions: business, headed by Harpham, $3000; commerce and industry, chairman Sid Wallace, $4700; education, $2000; public employees, Art Smith, chairman, $750; residential, Mrs. William J. Koser, $2500.

The established principles of good design are used by Mrs. Girvin in showing the students how to arrange fresh flowers, leaves, succulents, dried materials, wood, rocks, weeds, and accessories to produce beautiful and artistic arrangements. There are weekly demonstrations by the teacher, showing the use of the proper containers and how to make special arrangements for specific places in the home. ## Alameda County Mayors to Meet Here Tonight

Mayors of the incorporated cities of Alameda County will hold their regular conference here tonight, following a dinner at Roberta's restaurant at 930 San Pablo Ave.
One of the main problems to come under discussion is the method of selection of the governing board of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District. At present many of the smaller municipalities of the county are questioning the original plan whereby the board would consist of seven members chosen on a population basis alone, which would place the entire control in the larger cities.
The City of San Leandro has brought up a revision of this plan which would provide for a larger board and with each of the cities being represented. This matter was brought up at the Albany council meeting Monday, but postponed until next week when the result of the mayors' discussion will be available.

Jean's Dancing School Reopens For Fall Season

Six more days are left to register as a voter in Alameda County, the deadline is Sept. 13. Albany residents may register at the firehouse, 801 San Pablo Ave., every day including Saturday and Sunday.
There is no closed season on sunfish in California, according to the National Automobile Club.

BUILDING CODE GETS COUNCIL APPROVAL

The city council on Tuesday night approved a series of minor amendments to the new building code embraced in Ordinance No. 809, and passed it to print. It also approved a resolution closing the Albany city dump daily except Sunday during the racing season at Golden Gate Fields, but providing for the use of the Berkeley dump during the days when it is closed by arrangement with the City of Berkeley. Albany will pay the sum of $200 to Berkeley for this service.
Council also approved granting of taxicab permits to two firms, the applications having been cleared by the chief of police.

The city engineer reported having made an exhaustive inspection of the Pimental property, where damage was claimed due to sinking of foundations and said to be caused by faulty construction of a culvert carrying Cerrito Creek outflow in the vicinity, and declared the damage was in no way due to city negligence.
There was some further discussion regarding the moving of a light pole in front of the W. E. West property at 415 San Pablo. The city engineer reported there was no precedent in this matter. A compromise was finally adopted whereby the city would pay one-half the cost of the moving of the pole by a vote of 4 to 1, Mrs. Zalin opposing.
On recommendation of the city engineer it was agreed to ask for formal bids on certain repairs to the Codornices Village property, based on specifications drawn up by the engineer's office.

Albany High Offers Business Courses In Fall Semester

Albany High School students preparing for the business world will have an opportunity to take new and improved courses this coming semester. "These modifications in the high school business education curriculum," stated Helen Fake, department head, "have resulted from a study by the business department faculty, the director of instruction and the superintendent of schools."
Students planning sales or clerical courses will be required to take a revamped "sales" course. In this class, the student will learn about the different types of selling, the importance of the salesperson's personality, why the consumer buys, and detailed steps in "handling a sale." Speakers from the business world are scheduled to discuss with class members the various aspects of selling. Demonstration and dramatizations of selling situations will give the student an opportunity to apply what he has learned.
Other new and modified courses: Another course, bearing the title "Record Keeping," will also be introduced for the first time this coming semester. Here the emphasis will be placed on such topics as: record keeping for home and clubs; records in the business world; sales and payroll records; records for taxes and social security; use of common business forms; and preparing financial statements. This course is recommended for students interested in general office work or sales rather than in accounting.
Since typing is now a highly acceptable method of written communication and because of the growing demand that students present homework in typewritten form, a new course, "Typing for Personal Use," is now offered. Planned particularly for the college preparatory student, this course will prepare enrollees for typing personal letters, homework assignments and term papers. Any student at the ninth grade level or above who is not a business major may enroll.
Finally, in the business English course, an added emphasis will be placed on spelling, reading and oral English. Current magazine materials will supplement textbooks which review the fundamentals of grammar, punctuation and sentence structure.
Books and equipment have been purchased to enable an effective presentation of each course.

Winchester Home In San Jose Area Cost Five Million

When Mrs. Winchester, heir to the vast Winchester arms fortune and recipient of a personal income of one thousand dollars per day, moved from New England to San Jose, the 17-room house that Doctor Caldwell was building just four miles out of town seemed like the place to settle. She bought the house, according to the National Automobile Club, together with the 30 surrounding acres.

No sooner had Mrs. Winchester settled in her new house than she began to hear her voices from the other world, voices that told her she must always have the sound of hammers around her home, must continue to build, or she would die. Sitting alone in her one-windowed "spirit room" and listening to her voices, she hired carpenters and set them to work following her every whim. Under her direction they built stairways that had every kind of tread and led into rooms, into blank walls, or just stopped abruptly in space. They built corridors that varied in width from two feet to six or eight feet, and ceilings that made you crouch or peer upward. Some 2,000 doors built at every angle broke up the endless walls and some 10,000 windows, many of them of surpassing beauty, seemed to be everywhere. Doors or windows could open on a corridor, a view, a blank brick wall, or a closet so shallow that nothing could be stored there.

But all was not idle whim and ugliness. The entrance hall or "Prism Hall" was a place of lavish and breathtaking beauty. The ballroom, in which no one ever danced, was magnificently finished in bird's eye maple and had a handlaid floor made of hundreds of hardwood blocks.

When death finally took Mrs. Winchester, she had kept the hammers pounding for 38 years and had spent an estimated five million dollars on her spirit inspired home.

Have Rear-View In Working Order

Flip off the non-glare feature of the rear-view mirror when putting the car away in the garage at night so that the mirror is in proper focus for daytime driving, urges the California State Automobile Association. Backing out of the garage in the morning requires full attention and should be done without having to adjust the mirror in the process.

REPLACING TIRES

When you replace the tires on your car, it's best to have all tires the same size and the same tread design, says the California State Automobile Association. When you rotate tires from wheel to wheel you will not have any problems of uneven ride or uneven wear caused by unmatched tires.

Turn Off Wipers When You Stop Car

When garaging the car, after driving in the rain, be sure to turn off the windshield wipers if they are running when the engine is switched off. The reason for this, says the California State Automobile Association, is to prevent the wiper blades from sweeping across a dry, dirty windshield when the engine is started again, and thus scratching the glass.

ONE OUT OF SEVEN

One out of seven persons in the United States is employed in highway transportation industries, according to the National Automobile Club.

FINDING OIL

It costs the oil industry an average of $1.08 to find each new barrel of oil in the ground, according to the National Automobile Club.

Vary Your Speed In Breaking in Car

Nearly all makes of new cars recommend that during the break-in period, the owner drive at varying rates of speed. Many also recommend short bursts of fast acceleration to aid the break-in process reports the California State Automobile Association. Slow, steady driving is definitely not recommended.

FRUIT STAINS

Vacation trips often are the time when the family has snacks while riding along in the car. Should the upholstery become soiled with fruit stains, this is the correct way to remove them, says the California State Automobile Association. Rub the stain lightly with a cloth dampened with lukewarm water. Allow to dry and rub gently with fabric cleaner. Do not use soap or hot water as this causes the stain to set.

PART OF YOUR PRESENT INCOME SHOULD GO INTO
U.S. SAVINGS BONDS!

By Mr. Fred S. Florence
President, Republic National Bank
Dallas, Texas, and President,
American Bankers Association

Most of us Americans are earning more now than ever before. But when money comes easy, we have a tendency to let it go just as easily. If we're wise, we'll be sure and save part of every paycheck and invest it for our own future benefit.

Here are three good reasons why U. S. Series E Savings Bonds make a good foundation stone for any investment program.

- You're sure of your principal in Savings Bonds. It isn't subject to market fluctuations, and can be readily converted to cash.
- You're sure of your returns in Savings Bonds. Your Government guarantees you an average interest of 3% per year, compounded semiannually, when your Bonds are held to maturity.
- You're sure of the future when you invest in Savings Bonds. There's nothing like the feeling of security that a backlog of at least 6 months' living expenses in safe, sure U. S. Savings Bonds will bring you.

I sincerely recommend to everyone of my fellow citizens that he talk with his banker or investment counselor about making U. S. Savings Bonds a part of his investment program.

For the big things in your life, be ready with
U. S. Savings Bonds

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department thanks, for the patriotic donation, the Advertising Council.

noted California bandit of 1880s named 'Sugarfoot'
 Of all the bandits who prowled the roads of California in the 1880s, perhaps the coolest and most daring was one whose life is still shrouded in considerable mystery. His real name had been lost somewhere in the past, and who is now known only by his nickname, 'Sugarfoot,' a name he got from his habit of wearing sugar sacks on his feet whenever he took about the business of holding up a stagecoach.
 According to the National Automobile Club, was full of tricks. When he held up a stagecoach, he always seemed to pick the best possible stretch of road and carry the whole affair off in perfect style and the greatest of nonchalance. He would take a forty Winchester repeating rifle and swing over his right shoulder with a piece of baling wire that was attached at one end to the stock and at the other end to the barrel. In this way he could swing his rifle in any direction with his left hand and use his left hand to pass the hat among the passengers.
 This was the technique he used when he staged what was probably the most spectacular holdup of the day. On a warm summer afternoon he stepped out from behind some rocks up in the Mother Lode country to bring to a halt a stagecoach that was moving along the head of a straggling caravan comprised of three stages, five light wagons, and a company of soldiers who were on their way to Yosemite Valley to act as guards during the summer season.
 One by one the stages and light wagons came to a halt, and when the line went 'Sugarfoot,' his left hand poised on the Winchester that swung from his right shoulder and his left hand holding the reins in which he collected his loot. When the company of soldiers arrived, 'Sugarfoot' coolly told them to halt, hold their places, and keep their hands away from their guns. The fact that he knew the com-

Don't assume that because a traffic sign indicates a certain speed limit it is always safe to drive that fast, warns the California State Automobile Association. The speed limit on any road or highway is for normal driving conditions. If the weather is foggy or darkness has reduced visibility, the right and proper speed may be considerably less than the posted one.
 A banding officer had relieved the soldiers of all their ammunition before they left for their trip to the park probably helped him considerably to maintain his coolness.
 After taking money and jewelry from the passengers, a strongbox from the lead stagecoach, and a lunch from the driver of one of the freight wagons, 'Sugarfoot' ordered the caravan to move on its way. When the soldiers had rounded the bend of the road, about a dozen of them were given ammunition and sent out in pursuit of the elusive bandit. All they found was the empty strongbox and the remains of a hastily eaten lunch.
 'Sugarfoot' eventually came to a violent end when he made the mistake of holding up Six-Horse Charley, a wildish woman who drove a stagecoach as well as any man and swung her Winchester just a little faster than "the baling-wire bandit."

—asks Mrs. Edmund Dominguez
197 Millar Avenue, San Jose, California
She's mother of five fine boys yet she looks young enough to be their sister. And (lucky boys) she feels young enough to be their sister!
Why do so many mothers look and feel so much younger these days? One big reason is modern household appliances—they free women from chores that used to rob them of their youth and beauty.

Mrs. Dominguez, who's 33 years old, leaves much of her hard work to labor-saving appliances. How about you?
Here's the beauty of it: With gas and electricity so cheap in California, you can run a houseful of appliances all day for about half the cost of a bottle of liquid makeup.

Close to half the accidental home deaths in the county or a total of 41 were caused by falls, the Green Cross statistics show.
Richmond in Contra Costa County recorded a total of 25 accidental deaths. The Green Cross figures show that eight of this number were killed in traffic, 16 at home, none at work, and one in a public accident. Half the home fatalities were the result of falls.

Comparing the local statistics compiled by the Eastbay Chapter of the Green Cross with figures collected for the country by the national organization indicates no significant differences in the comparative ratio of accidents in the home, on the highway, and at work.

In The Albany Churches

ARLINGTON COMMUNITY
Starting this Sunday there will be two identical services at Arlington Community Church each Sunday morning at 9:30 and 11 o'clock. Church school will be conducted during each service.
Rev. George K. Dreher, the pastor, has chosen for his topic this Sunday, "Think, Last Chance," with the text from the Gospel of Luke 13:9.

GRACE LUTHERAN
At Grace Lutheran Church, Santa Fe Ave. at Ward, the Rev. O. R. Janke, pastor, will speak in both services at 9:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. next Sunday on the topic, "The Threefold Communion." Holy communion will also be administered in this service.
The lesson topic for the graded classes of the Sunday school meeting at 9:45 a.m. will be "The Boy Joseph and His Brothers." The parish Bible classes meet at the same hour.

FIRST BAPTIST
Dr. Odegard will speak on the sermon subject, "A Going Christianity" at the worship service, 11 a.m. He has strong evangelistic

The Rev. A. F. Waechter, former missionary to Africa and Baptist minister, will speak at the evening gospel service, 7:30 o'clock. There will be special music both morning and evening.

Singspiration will follow the evening service to which everybody is invited.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
The vital importance of honoring God in thought and in deed will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday at 5:33 San Pablo Ave., Albany.

Keynoting the lesson-sermon on "Substance" is the Golden Text from Proverbs (22:1): "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold."

The importance of spiritual values will be emphasized in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (239:5): "Take away wealth, fame, and social organizations, which weigh not one jot in the balance of God, and we get clearer views of Principle. Break up cliques, level wealth with honesty, let worth be judged according to wisdom, and we get better views of humanity."

Scriptural selections to be read include the following (Proverbs 3:9): "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of thine increase."

Services at St. Alban's Episcopal, Albany:
7:30 a.m., celebration of holy communion.

The first of these, entitled "What Happened in Jerusalem," will be offered this coming Sunday at both the 9:45 and 11 a.m. services at the Albany Community Methodist Church.

Rev. Henderson has recently returned from a tour of Europe and the Holy Land, and the new fall series of sermons will be based on

The Savings Bond that went through the wringer — without shrinking!

There's no doubt about it. The modern automatic washer does a pretty thorough job on a Savings Bond. But it takes more than dampness, decolorants, or detergents to destroy its value as this story illustrates.

The above photograph shows what happened when a U. S. Savings Bond, left by mistake in a man's shirt pocket, went through the family washing machine. It looked like a real blue Monday for that Bond-owning family—until they told their story to the U. S. Treasury. The Government replaced the Bond. The family, realizing more than ever the value and safety of Bond ownership, stepped up their Bond-buying program. And they all lived happily ever after.

This true story illustrates why Bonds are said to be "Safer than Cash." Each year the Treasury replaces thousands of Bonds lost either through carelessness or through the whims of nature. Every major flood, tornado, explosion or fire brings a wave of applications for Bond replacement.

So here's something to remember. Any of your Savings Bonds that are lost, stolen or destroyed will be replaced by the United States Treasury without charge.

U. S. Savings Bonds are not only safer than cash but one of the best investments you can make. You can be sure of the principal, sure of the returns (an average 3% interest when held to maturity)—and sure of the future when you invest regularly in Savings Bonds.

So start investing in Savings Bonds today—either on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or at your bank. That's the safe and sure way to clean up.

September day in 1893, the first successful gasoline vehicle violated the quiet streets in Springfield, Mass. Charles and Frank Durie single-cylinder car was its first road test.

38 years to make that first 50 million descendants, according to the National Automobile Club. The next 50 million required 17 years, and there was quite a bit of time in 1948 when the 100th American-built motor vehicle was turned out.

55, barely seven years later, 10 millionth came rolling off the States production line. Industry was too busy turning record 9 million-plus cars, and buses to accord the any fanfare.

Smoking Dangerous In Many Conditions

Most garage servicemen know that smoking near a battery that is being charged is dangerous. During the charging process, batteries emit explosive hydrogen gas. In fact, it's a good idea to refrain from smoking whenever you pull into a gas station, says the California State Automobile Association. The ashes from a cigarette, cigar or pipe could cause a dangerous explosion.

The word good said to a child is always understood, and no one explains it to him.—Joseph Joubert.

and shelter have felt its impact, to say nothing of social customs.

Tropical fruits grace rural and small-town tables the year around, no longer reserved for Christmas stockings. Sociologists liken the automobile to an added room for our homes, but architects note the passing of the front parlor.

A recent survey reveals that this traditional site for courting has largely given way to the family car. The old-fashioned greatcoat, with the advent of closed cars, has gone the way of the buggy whip.

In these and many other ways, unprecedented personal mobility has let us reweave the fabric of our lives.

How the Black Bass Came to California

Back in 1879, according to the National Automobile Club, there wasn't a striped bass to be had in California. At that time, however, some enterprising fellow scooped 132 little strippers from the Navesink River in New Jersey, put them into a tank and on a train, brought them out to California, and dropped them into the water just off Martinez. Three years later they dropped another 300 strippers into the Suisun Bay.

And then Mother Nature took over. A five pound female bass may spawn as many as 250,000 eggs in one season a 12 pounder may spawn 1,250,000 eggs, and it is estimated that a 75 pounder would probably spawn close to 10 million eggs.

So well have the females been spawning down through the years that in 1948 California anglers took well over 1,500,000 striped bass from local waters and this hardly put a dent in the total number of strippers that lurk beneath the surface of the waters around our state. During June and July, when eggs are hatching, the total number of tiny fish in such bodies of water as Suisun Bay and the San Joaquin Delta must be almost astronomical.

SPEAKING OF CARDS

CAN HE PLAY BRIDGE?

That would seem to be the logical question for a big-league baseball scout to ask a young sandlot whiz before signing him up and handing him a fat bonus. For if he answers yes, it's a clue that he may turn out to be another Ted Williams, Ralph Kiner or Duke Snider. The interesting clue lies in a recent survey of the card playing interests and habits of major league baseball players.

Gin Rummy is the most frequently played card game among ball players (which is not too surprising since it's a favorite with many people who have to travel).

The survey also revealed that 30% of the players enjoy Contract Bridge and a high percentage of these are outstanding stars. Obviously ball players are not "fall travelers" since Contract Bridge is regarded as probably the "brainiest" of card games. As most of these players have enjoyed the game since their high school and college days, there appears to be a close affinity between the best ways to relax during the long train and plane trips they have to make.
